All About
The Variety Club of Great Britain

What it means to the under-privileged children of Great Britain

The Variety Club International (the world organisation to which the Variety Club of Great Britain is affiliated) has been active for over thirty years, and in that time has given over £20,000,000 for the direct help of millions of children in many countries.

Tent 36—was formed in October 1949 by thirteen American showmen working in this country.

Members include film, stage, television, radio and recording stars, executives, producers and directors; bandleaders, theatre managers, impresarios, musicians, amusement caterers and holiday-camp magnates; Fleet Street and magazine editors and columnists; authors' and book and music publishers, and distinguished officers of Her Majesty's Services. His Royal Highness Prince Philip and Earl Mountbatten of Burma are life members.

The Variety Club of Great Britain has assisted over 1,000 national, local and private children's organisations, and countless individual cases of distress. Orphanages, homes, the children's wards of hospitals, residential and training schools, homes for mentally and physically handicapped youngsters, clubs and children's convalescent centres.

Aid is rendered to centres which specialise in research on diseases to which the young are particulary prone; organisations which care for physically and mentally handicapped boys and girls; and centres devoted to the welfare of normal youngsters who come within the category of "under-privileged"—that is, orphans, those from broken or poor homes, and the like.

The Manchester Committee's target for 1971 is £50,000 and this money will be used exclusively to help local under-privileged children.

Varietys Club's motto is:
THE HEART OF SHOW BUSINESS
