

NORTHERN RUGBY FOOTBALL LEAGUE.

ROVERS v. OLDHAM

Saturday, April 23rd, 1949. Kick-off 3-0 p.m.

CLUB NOTES

It is unfortunate that for our last home match of the season we shall be without several of our regular first team players. The heavy commitments over the holiday period coupled with the hard ground has taken its toll of many of our stalwarts who have given yeoman service to the Club throughout the season. Ike Mills, Cyril Smith, Herbert Chapman, all suffered injuries last week and their places to-day will be taken by "A" team men who will no doubt give a good account of themselves.

Oldham's team has a few changes from the side which beat Rovers at Oldham in September last, but I understand they are out for a double victory. If Rovers can repeat their heroic display at York last Monday when they struggled home with only ten men, we expect them to win to-day.

A big welcome to our friends, the American Navy, who should have some interesting comparisons to make between our code and theirs.

Their system of having a "team" of reserves sat on the bench awaiting to be called at a minute's notice has many things in its favour, or has it? What do you think? However, may they enjoy the game, also their short stay in Hull.
