WATERSHEDDINGS SURVEY

THE bookmakers reckon Oldham are 5-1 for the Second Division title — second favourites behind Salford — and we set off the new campaign with a 24-16 win against Hunslet at Watersheddings two weeks ago.

Though the performance was not one of our best, and coach Frank Myler had some words to say about it afterwards, we never really looked like slipping up and in the end we finished with an eight-point winning margin.

Tries were scored by Paddy Kirwan, Phil Ward, Clive Hunter and Dave Nicholson — his first for the club — and Mick Parrish was in good kicking form, being successful with six goals from seven attempts.

There have also been two successes at "A" team level since these programme notes were last published. The reserves beating Workington "A" 43-16 and scored a total of nine tries in the process.

Ashley McEwen led the way with a hat-trick of touchdowns and other tries were scored by Steve Herbert, Les Cook (2), Alan Taylor, Colin Hawkyard and John Walls with Mick Worrall kicking four goals and a trialist half-back landing another four.

The "A" team followed up in mid-week with another home win, this time 24-9 against Blackpool Borough, who played the vastly-experienced Welsh international hooker Don Parry and restricted the amount of ball coming Oldham's way.

Nevertheless, our "A" team overcame the handicap well to run in six tries.

McEwen scored two late on, taking his two-match total to five, and there were also tries for the trialist halfback, Herbert, Bob Mordell and Ian Ogden with Alan Platt (2) and the trialist landing goals.

Our Colts team played its first match of the season against Leeds at Watersheddings and though putting up a plucky show against a much more experienced and bigger set of opponents, they went down 38-17 with Paul Lowndes scoring three tries and Alan Platt landing four goals.

Platt, Lowndes and Stephen Dobb, playing out of position at stand-off, were the only members of our team with much experience of Colts football.

So to Blackpool at Borough Park for our second game in the Second Division — and another win! Though we did not reach our top form, Borough never really threatened us after we had opened up with seven points in the first eight minutes.

In the end we won 16-6 to go joint top of the Second Division alongside the only other two unbeaten teams — Workington and Salford.

Mick Parrish kicked five goals from six shots, to take his tally in the two league games to 11, and tries were scored by Clive Hunter and Mick Worrall.

Congratulations are due for our young skipper Terry Flanagan who followed up his representative honours last season by figuring in the Lancashire squad that opened up the county championship series against Yorkshire at Castleford on Wednesday last.

Last season Terry was vice-captain of the Great Britain under-24 side and he also got into the squad for the last Test against the New Zealanders.

Another pleasing aspect of the Watersheddings scene at present is the way winger Geoff Munro is getting back in the old routine after his bad ankle injury at the end of last season.

Geoff has had two operations on the ankle, including one to "pin" the bone above the ankle. He has spent a lot of time and put in a lot of hard work to get back to match fitness and, as a result of his endeavour he came successfully through his first "A" team test in the home win against Blackpool.

He did not get a lot of the ball but, when he did, he coped more than adequately with the situation and will now be more confident for his next run-out in the gradual build-up to normal.

DEWSBURY, who are keen to improve on their mediocre Second Division record last season, come to Watersheddings today with a young side which has alread been badly hit by injuries in the opening weeks of the campaign.

Two of the Crown Flatt club's most experienced players were sold in the close season. John Wolford, that talented scrum-half, stand-off or loose-forward, moved to Hunslet and centre Malcolm Agar was transferred to Halifax.

That was an awful lot of experience for a club like Dewsbury to lose but the board are banking heavily on a youth policy and they have snapped up two promising players in Graham Mook and Chris Squires.

Mook is a second-row forward from the Wakefield and District League and looks a fine prospect.

Squires is a local fullback, aged 20. He is a 6ft 2in goalkicker who tips the scales at 14 stones and Dewsbury hold out very high hopes for him in the professional game.

Another youngster, winger Mick Wilson, suffered a serious neck injury in the Yorkshire Cup-tie at Wakefield when he fell awkwardly in a tackle and damaged his fifth and sixth vertebrae.

He is still in hospital but we are told he is making satisfactory progress and has every intention of playing the game again.

Sadly, his injury was typical of the tale of woe at Dewsbury this season so far. In the same match club skipper Jack Austin, who needs no introduction here, was sent off.

He was apparently unfortunate to get his marching orders, having first been tackled off the ball, but he ultimately received a three-match suspension which will put him out of the game today.

Few centres in the game are more determined than big Jack and Dewsbury clearly missed him badly on the opening day of the Second Division campaign when they suffered a very heavy defeat at Workington.

As if the club's injury list and the Austin suspension was not sufficient to cope with, player-coach Bernard Watson damaged his ribs badly against the Cumbrians and, at the time of writing, was considered to be doubtful for the trip to Watersheddings.

One of the Dewsbury success stories at Derwent Park was the form of big prop Keith Mason, who had a cracking game and will doubtless be out to emulate his performance against Oldham today.

Last season Dewsbury finished fourth off the bottom in the Second Division with 11 wins from their 28 matches. They also had a draw for 23 points — 19 more than bottom club Huyton, 14 more than next-to-bottom Blackpool and 13 more than Doncaster.

Though finishing so low down they were only four points behind Hunslet, who finished half way up the division.

Dewsbury and Oldham did not meet last season but the season before that — Oldham's promotion year — the sides met three times and Oldham won them all.

Dewsbury lost 25-6 at Watersheddings in the league, 17-14 at Crown Flatt in the league and 24-2, again at Crown Flatt, in the first round of the Challenge Cup.

TRANSFER FEE MADNESS

Brian Batty Daily Mail

AT a time when Soccer is attempting to restore some sanity to the transfer market the inflated fees remain in Rugby League.

Unless it is hellbent on destroying itself then Soccer will have no alternative in the long term but to bring the transfer scene back to earth.

It is certainly taking quite a time for Soccer to come to its senses so let us hope that Rugby League clubs realise there can be only one outcome for the majority of clubs in the face of soaring transfer fees.

I know the two sports differ in one sense that there is a great shortage of available talent in Rugby League.

And, with the entry of Fulham, Carlisle and Cardiff City it has put a completely false complexion on the transfer market.

Although gates in Rugby League have shown a gradual overall increase in recent seasons few clubs have found themselves with much capital to spare.

There has been a pretty formidable rise in players bonuses and the general expenses of running a club.

Sponsorship has been a help with the clubs having something more to celebrate than silverware as a reward for winning honours.

But at the end of the day even the most successful of clubs are squeezing the financial sponge to exist and I do not see the situation changing much in the near future.

Yet the League deserve credit for raising sponsorship to around the £300,000 mark with the latest entry of Dominion Insurance to back the Great Britain side.

The cash will not create better players of course – and that is our main problem at the moment – but it will help prepare for the next Test series against Australia.

Perhaps the prospect of facing the Aussies in the Test arena in a Test will surely prove a spur to our players and during the next 12 months the right breed of player will rise to the surface.

This season is going to be critical in this respect and it would be wrong to get carried away with the idea that financial backing for training and preparation is going to solve our problems.

I am sure our officials are aware of this fact and appreciate the hard work and effort needed as they aim to put our game where it belongs – back on top.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE DEWSBURY CLUB

by Tom Webb

DEWSBURY celebrated the club centenary a few seasons ago but there had been a break in the club's activities just before the turn of the century.

In October 1875 the club was founded at a meeting held in the Little Saddle Inn when 50 members had agreed to pay a sixpenny entrance fee and a weekly subscription of threepence. The licensee William Blackburn loaned £15 without security and then paid half a guinea to become the club's first honorary member.

In December 1875 the first game was played in a field off Sugar Lane, just opposite Crown Flatt and the first gate was one shilling and sixpence halfpenny. The club flourished and repaid the £15 loan within a month. In due course a move was made to the present ground.

In 1877-78 season, on March 23rd, Oldham crossed the Pennines to play Dewsbury Athletic as the club was named, and this was believed to be the first time that a Lancashire club fulfilled a fixture in Yorkshire. However, Oldham played Wakefield Trinity in an earlier game in Yorkshire.

In that season the clubs met in Oldham, probably at the Clarksfield ground, when there was a draw "in favour of Oldham" to quote the newspaper report. Both clubs had scored a goal and a try but Oldham had two minor points from touch downs. This was a ball being made dead by the defending side. In the fixture in Yorkshire, Oldham won by two goals, three tries, two touch downs and one touch-in-goal to three touch downs and one touch-in-goal. F. Wild was over the line but there was a melee and the man in authority awarded Oldham a try. Each side had their own umpire and a referee made decisions when the umpires disagreed. Fred Wild was the Oldham club secretary.

When the Northern Union was instituted in 1895 Dewsbury were among the original clubs but decided to stay with the Rugby Union.

The result of staying in the Rugby Union caused Dewsbury to lose their best fixtures and after three or four years the club folded up. In no time at all a new start was made so in another 16 or 17 years the club can have another centenary celebration.

The legendary Richard Evison Lockwood, "Dickie Lockwood", was such a wonderful player that the club used to stick bills on walls and hoardings saying that "Dickie Lockwood will definitely play".

In 1913 a record fee was paid for the services of Lance Todd, which caused great delight in Shoddy Town but caused meetings of protest in Wigan. The fee was £400 but shortly afterwards Hull paid Dewsbury £405 for Tommy Milner.

When Challenge Cup finals were taken to Wembley for the first time, Wigan and Dewsbury were the first contestants. Dewsbury lost but they had previously won the cup by beating Oldham in the 1911-12 final.

John Jackett of Cornwall joined Dewsbury as a full back. G. W. Smith then the proprietor of the Empire Theatre in that time named one of his racehorses after the player. A contemporary of his, Joe Hammill, played for both Dewsbury and Hull before settling in New Zealand. There he was a great worker for the Rugby League game and in due course his son Trevor became secretary of the New Zealand Rugby Football League.

One secretary of Dewsbury was Eddie Waring. The present secretary is Bernard Shoeman, a great enthusiast and a former grade one referee.

MUD, MUD, GLORIOUS MUD

by Alan Burke

Public Relations Officer, Oldham Amateur Rugby League

SOME of the best weather of the year heralded the opening of the 1981-82 Pennine League season last Saturday, giving both players and spectators an opportunity to sample how the 13-a-side code would fare if its season was switched to the summer months. Although moves have reguarly been made to alter the game from its winter sport status, those who have suggested the idea have almost certainly never themselves attempted to run about for 80 minutes in such conditions.

Warmer temperatures may well attract more spectators to the game, but those who are providing the entertainment are naturally unable to constantly reproduce their skills in the excessive heat, thus causing the general standard of play to be lowered. As if to highlight this fact, one only has to look at the results of last week's matches on the opening day of the new Pennine League season. Twenty-three fixtures took place throughout the area, all of them being played in extremely high temperatures, and with only one match registering a total of less than twenty-five points being scored. Although followers of the game are naturally attracted in the hope of seeing plenty of scores being made, those same supporters would not doubt soon become dissatisfied if that situation happened every week as a result of half-hearted tackling by defences affected by the heat.

At the end of the current season the Great Britain amateur International team will no doubt be receiving another taste of summer rugby when they go on a tour to Australia, New Zealand and Papua New Guinea. For the open-age side it will be their second tour to the southern hemisphere, while 12 months later, in 1983, it will be the turn of the BARLA Under-19s national side to make a similar journey. Naturally, Oldham Amateur League officials are hoping that the town will be represented on both tours, especially as Oldham has recently become one of the boom areas for the amateur game, and with the local youth team having won last season's BARLA Inter-League Shield, while the senior side were runners-up to Leeds in their event.

BARLA have announced that players selected for any of the forthcoming tours will only be allowed to travel if they are able to gain sponsorship for themselves, with a figure of about £500 having been quoted. This is to cover a player's expenses for the tour, including travel and accommodation, and any player unable to meet such costs will immediately be withdrawn from the International squad. Although not fully in agreement with the idea, the Oldham League have already made plans to protect the interests of any local player who might be selected for either the open-age or youth tour.

Oldham League officials are to set up a fund from which the proceeds will go to providing the sponsorship required by any local player selected for the tours. Following the announcement of the touring squads, each player and his amateur club will only have a matter of weeks in which to obtain the finances required, thus possibly giving more wealthier clubs more of a chance to be represented on the tour. The Oldham League's idea, therefore, is to ensure that whichever local players might be selected, he will not miss out on the most important event of his career. Various events are to be organised by the League to help boost the fund, while it is hoped that local clubs will provide their own contributions, and that Oldham-based firms will make donations to prevent any local player from having to forfeit his ambition. Should no Oldham players be selected for any of the planned tours, the amount raised will not be used for any other purpose, but will be kept for whenever a local player does gain a place on an International tour in future years.
