Two weeks ago, the lads put in a much needed performance to take two points from Featherstone by doing the very things that we hadn't been doing in previous games, namely, controlling the ball and eliminating mistakes and I have been emphasising this point to the players all season. 'Control the ball, and you control the game.' The game itself may not have been a classic, but we thoroughly deserved the two points. We then wanted to take that same level of enthusiasm and commitment into the Wigan game and come out with the same credit, whatever the result. Unfortunately we failed to do that, and in adverse conditions, we made the mistakes in the key areas and Wigan, being the world champion side that they are, punished us heavily for our transgressions. Once again we learned the hard way that in any game you simply must control the football or die!!

So, this week has been a time for regrouping and getting back to basics for todays vital game against Oldham. People have asked me what I say to the players to pick them up after a beating like last week basically I just put a gun to their heads and say "right, the time has come where people have got to give me the level of commitment I'm looking for." I believe in showing loyalty to players up to a point, but sooner or later if they aren't producing the goods on the field, then people have to make way for someone who will.

Today's game is very important to us as our poor away form means that we have to win our home games, as it is not fair on the supporters to have them travel all the way to places like Wigan and see below par performances which just depress the fans and discourages them for coming through the turnstiles at Belle Vue. In short, for the sake of the fans and the club in general, we must win this afternoon. One thing is for sure, our preparation this week has all been geared towards us getting two points out of today's game. Our points scoring has been another cause for concern as we are simply not getting over the whitewash enough, and sometimes when we do, we are failing to get the ball down! The reason is beyond me at the moment, as we are creating the chances but not turning them into points. It's a funny thing, but I think the ability to take chances comes from within, players have got to want to score. If you go at it half heartedly then likely as not you will fail, it's not accident that players who really have the desire to score, do it consistently throughout the season and we've got to start having that desire in all the players week in week out.

Terrace Talk By Clarkie

HEARTBREAKER:

I had thought about it myself, what would the 'Gamebreaker' be in League Express following our, for want of a better word, performance, be afterwards? I came up with WIGAN RUNNING ON TO THE PITCH. League Express were a little bit kinder, they came up with BOTICA'S SECOND MINUTE PENALTY WHICH PUT THE RESULT BEYOND DOUBT. Both, I suppose, are a little bit harsh on reflection. I mean, we did O.K. for about 22 minutes and then the howl door fell off. So we'll try and put it in perspective then. I never really expected us to win, but 46 bloody nil, who's kidding who here? I had to leave before the end because I could not stand the humiliation. I think I passed our defence in the car park. Just for the record, Wigan is a 125 mile round trip from our house. It costs £12 for us to get in (fortunately I didn't see a programme seller and I refuse to buy Golden Gamble tickets at away games).

'Refreshments' had to be paid for. It never stopped raining and, on the way home, we got stuck in the contra-flow for an hour because some idiots had nothing better to do on a Sunday afternoon than run into each other. Somebody down at Belle Vue has a sick sense of humour! (By the way, I was cheered a little on Monday when our best player against Wigan gave me a cheery wave from his fire-engine, nice one Gary).

FRAMING THE FUTURE II:

I said we'd get back to this eventually so here goes. I wrote this before the meeting on the 5th October hoping that common sense will prevail and the Second Division amendments on postponing the vote will go through. The document is too far reaching and important to be introduced through and needs a full and proper consultation to take place before any such decisions are made. Ideally the plans will not come into effect at the end of this season but will be thoroughly debated, consensus reached and they will become effective at the end of the 1995/6 season. I hope. If common sense does not prevail and the plans are pushed through this season I can exclusively reveal Wakefield Trinity's response to the minimum standards laid down in the report:

MINIMUM GROUND CAPACITY:

10,000 including seating for at least 2,500 and cover for at least 5,000. Trinity plans to buy 1,500 shooting sticks for those plastic baroque chairs from that cheap shop at the side of Woolworths and 5,000 rain-hoods which will be handed out on the gate. Alternatively the directors are looking into providing umbrellas if they can find enough elephants' feet to store them in.

ONE FOOD OUTLET PER 1,000 SPECTATORS:

A difficult one this as the directors never really know how many are going to turn up for games. The facilities at Belle Vue can cater for 2,000 and these could easily be supplemented by roping in that bloke that sells vast quantities on the market in winter and bangs back the baked tattie cut.

PRESS FACILITIES FOR 30:

Easy, smaller journalists.

CHANGING AND MEDICAL FACILITIES:

Mmmm, I think we already have these as I can't remember seeing any of the players ever arriving in their kit or going home to their muck and the relationship that the club has with St. Johns Ambulance is second to none, apparently.

ADEQUATE TOILET FACILITIES:

Depends what you want them to be adequate for really. If you are looking for somewhere to keep the coal or pile up a good Autumn's worth of leaves there's nothing wrong with the ones we've got.

A CRECHE:

When asked what they thought a creche was 80% of Trinity directors thought it was a car crash in Knightsbridge.

CORPORATE FACILITIES FOR 500+:

Bloody hell, with that many freeloaders down here we'll never make a profit. How many chicken drumsticks is that Barbara?

Well at least we've got three years to put things right but in the meantime I'd settle for a janny (or should that be nanny?) system that you can actually work out what's being said on.

STRENGTH, IT'S THE AUSSIES:

Well, they're here and pretty awesome they look too. But as you will know they're pretty big on nicknames over there, I mean, the coach is a Bono for a start and the Captain's Chicken George.

The Australians arrived on Thursday 29th September and had the first game of their tour against Cumbria last Sunday with the Roos victorious 52-8. Cumbria's best included Steve McCurrie (Widnes), Jon Roper (Warrington), Martin Birkett (Salford) and John Neill (St. Helens) but they couldn't deny the power, pace and sheer skill of the tourists although they were not disgraced. Torrential rain hampered the handling for both sides, as it did for all matches west of the Pennines! Wendell Sailor was sensational with two tries as were the other debut boys. Bobby Fulton was realistic in his approach saying 'we will see how the boys do against stronger opposition before we start jumping up and down' with the Aussies playing Leeds (5.10.94) and Wigan (8.10.94) with Castleford next Wednesday (12.10.94) they will certainly get a feel for the tougher opposition' sooner rather than later. As rugby league gears itself up for the first test at Wembley on Saturday 22nd October the battle still rages over whether Ellery Hanley will choose Garry Schofield for his team let alone as captain. The usual comments of 'if he has not been good enough for Leeds, is he good enough for GB? have been bandied around. But Gary certainly got to grips with the game against Castleford last week coming on as sub. After a shaky start he showed touches of brilliance particularly in setting up Hanley's try and his experience in facing the Aussies would be an asset, although saying that the decision is not cut and dry when that would mean either Bobby Goulding or Shaun Edwards taking a sideline seat which doesn't seem plausible the way they have been performing. Goulding is inspirational and without him Saints would be struggling, it was only Bobby's genius which helped Saints clinch a draw against Oldham in the dying minutes of the game last week and claim a 26-10 win over Sheffield Eagles the week before. Sheffield were nipped by Widnes last weekend 0-22, going down without scoring a point for the first time in their ten year history. Sheffield didn't get it together at all and Widnes hit them with a cast iron defence which left the Eagles short on options and ideas. Gary Hetherington had been away all week on GB duties as assistant coach and Sheffield weren't further helped by the none appearance of Canberra prop Paul Osborne who was due to fly in on Friday but didn't arrive. Sheffield have certainly been unlucky in their picking of overseas players Daryl Trindall leaving after one week because his son is ill, but he is also quoted as saying he will not return because of the poor treatment that he received. Bradford remain top of the table with eight wins from eight although they were made to fight all the way at the Boulevard last week. Although this clash meant top side meeting bottom side it wasn't always obvious which side was which. Hull were defending an impressive record against Bradford with Northern not winning at the Boulevard since 1988.

Their first triumph there in 13 visits was sealed in the 62nd minute when Bradford won a scrum against the head inside the Hull quarter to see Watson over just to the left of the uprights. Hull showed their best form of the season and the arrival of their third Kiwi Tevita Vaikona at centre went some way to nullifying the threat of Paul Newlove. Hull face Sheffield today and unless the Eagles get it together Hull could claim their first win of the season which would be an enormous confidence boost for them as they travel to Belle Vue next week. We went down 46-0 at Central Park last week in a game best forgotten, too many handling errors in our own half gave Wigan the possession they needed to keep up their unbeaten record after they won at Castleford two weeks ago 28-21 in a game which saw Richard Goddard score two tries to give Castleford a chance of victory. It was only the goalkicking which separated the two teams, Castleford failed on two conversions late in the game which could have seen them win 32-31 but it was not to be. Last weekend Castleford had the memorable draw against Leeds at Headingley. Castleford looked all at sea for the first twenty minutes until Lee Crooks came on as sub. Crooks had missed the last game against Wigan through a back injury but was instrumental in Castleford's revival in the second half to see them share the points. Crooks had spent ten minutes in the sin bin after a late tackle on Hanley after he had scored a try for Leeds making it an eight point try, with the penalty but minutes after returning to the field it was Crooks who kicked a penalty to draw the match. With the best of Cumbria playing, Featherstone, Warrington, Workington and Halifax all had a free weekend with Workington travelling to Featherstone (Tues 4/10/94) Salford and Doncaster were the other two teams to play last Sunday and it was Salford who hung on to take the points 22-12. Doncaster were 22-0 down after 40 minutes, at this point tempers began to fray and referee Mr Presley had a job on his hands to keep the peace. Forber was sin binned for Salford and Turner for Doncaster both for foul play, but in different incidents. Garry Jack will be breathing a sigh of relief after Salford's first win in five matches whilst Doncaster's Tony Fisher looks to have some problems on his hands. The Dons have some cash problems (but then again who doesn't?) and their good start to the season has started to slip as they meet stronger opposition and lose players through injuries. They play Halifax today and Castleford next Sunday both of which will be difficult games. The other games around the league today are:

Castleford v Salford
Doncaster v Halifax
Sheffield v Hull
St. Helens v Leeds
Widnes v Featherstone

Again it is a short fixture list with Wigan playing the Aussies yesterday and Warrington and Bradford playing on Friday night.

Academy Report

Yesterday should have seen us in action in our penultimate phase One Academy Fixture prior to the formation of Leagues one, two and three. We will have needed a very convincing victory against a Featherstone Rovers side to keep our hopes of First Division status alive. Three of the six sides in our Phase One Group will be in the First Division, fourth and fifth placed sides will be in the Second Division and the bottom club will go into the Third Division.

It is obvious that St. Helens will go through Phase One undefeated as our lads will confirm after last week's 66 points to 10 victory over Trinity. I suspect (and hope) that we will lose two games, after also being narrowly beaten by Widnes 26 points to 23. Castleford, I suspect having already lost to Saints and ourselves (13 points to 12) will defeat Widnes and also end up having lost two games, whilst Widnes having already lost to Saints, and possibly Castleford, will also lose two...so it's all down to points difference. We need big wins at Featherstone and next Saturday here at Belle Vue against bottom placed Hull K.R. with a 2.30 pm kick off time.

League Round-up

On Vue Today...

Oldham come to Belle Vue today after two emphatic wins against Doncaster and Hull (44-8) and (17-21) respectively, and then last week they held St. Helens to a draw, although if it were not for Bobby Goulding leading Saints out of the mire, Oldham would have had both of the points.

Nigel Heslop has started the last three games in the number one shirt a former England RU winger, he won ten caps for his country before joining from Orrell RU club in February 1993. Last weekend, Wally Gibson, a firm favourite with the Oldham crowd, came on as a substitute to replace Heslop. On this day one of the finest attacking full backs in the game, Wally made his name with Huddersfield before joining Oldham two years ago and playing havoc with the best defences in the league. David Jones has held a regular wingers jersey since joining Oldham from Wakefield, a former Wigan St. Pats David had a spell in Australia during the close season, and will be looking to cross the whitewash today in front of his old team mates. Scott Ranson holds the other wingers shirt, the twenty five year old joined from Swinton, where he was their top try scorer, in March 1992. Ranson also had a spell with St. Helens. The centre spots at Oldham are currently being occupied by Shaun Irwin and Darren Abram. Irwin, a former Castleford player moved to Oldham in 1992 in the move that took Richard Russell to Castleford. Darren Abram began his career at Warrington before moving to Trafford Borough and then onto Rochdale for £40,000 in 1991. A prolific try scorer at Rochdale he was listed at £70,000 when Oldham snapped him up in February 1993 beating off Salford and Featherstone in the battle. Paul Topping currently holds the number six jersey for Oldham after signing from Leigh in the summer of 1993. Oldham's top points scorer last season, he made a remarkable recovery after surgery on a groin injury which gave him problems last season. Topping started his career as full back with Swinton and although he is happiest at stand off he can play full back, centre, or even loose forward and is Oldham's goalkicker. Martin Crompton was Oldham's star boy last season at £35,000 from Wigan. Crompton is one to be watched, he gained a drop goal in the game against Hull and is best known for his tactical kicks, after regaining his own 'bomb' against Doncaster to score a try under the posts.

Oldham have a wealth of players who can perform in their pack but at the moment their current prop forwards are Chris Parr and Ian Sherratt. Parr began his professional career with Huddersfield where he gained GB U21 honours. From there he moved to Swinton where things didn't work out but he moved to Oldham in exchange for John Maxwell and has held a regular first team spot since then. Ian Sherratt is a hard working prop forward, originally with Salford he returned to Oldham in the 1991/2 season and was voted players player of the season last season. Oldham's hooking spot goes to John Clarke, he came straight out of BARLA youth rugby last season and made the number nine shirt his own. John is the only player to have won the BARLA youth player of the year award more than once, he also gained international experience with the BARLA young Lions who toured Australia in 1993. Gary Lord and Joe Faimalo are in the second row for Oldham they are both newcomers to the club, and have both made a big impact on the side. Gary Lord has played at Castleford and Leeds before being signed from Halifax for £35,000 after the fee was fixed by tribunal. Gary is the brother of former Oldham player Paul Lord. Joe Faimalo is proving to be a powerful strong running forward. The Kiwi joined Oldham this year and is the younger brother of Esene Faimalo who is currently at Leeds. Mike Kuiti is a New Zealand International of great repute who deserves great respect. The strong running loose forward played in GB and France in 1989 with the touring Kiwis and has been selected eight times in his career. Kuiti has played for Swinton, Leeds and Rochdale twice. He has a good eye for taking and making scoring opportunities and has been a great asset at Oldham, being able to turn games with his powerful runs. Oldham, then have the likes of Jason Temu, Steve Gartland, Paul Davidson and Craig Richards all queuing up for that first team spot.

After their draw against St. Helens, Oldham are currently 11th in the league table with 5 points from 7 games, two places above us with 4 points from 7 games. Last season we managed a last gasp victory here at Belle Vue 22-21 in front of 3882 supporters, with the return match at Oldham ending in a draw when in the last minute of the game Andy Wilson latched onto a long pass from David Hobbs and screamed down the touch line to score beneath the sticks. Henry Paul missed the conversion and the points were halved after the twenty all draw. This season the points are just as important for both sides and a tight battle is expected from both sides.

MARTYN SADLER, THE EDITOR OF LEAGUE EXPRESS, CONSIDERS THE IMPLICATIONS OF A PREMIER LEAGUE.

At a time when the game is awash with talk of a Premier League and threats of a breakaway movement by the game's leading clubs, any Trinity supporter would have to ask what the future is likely to hold here at Belle Vue.

Although I am writing this column before the crucial meeting of the clubs which was due to make this decision about the future of the game last Wednesday, only a fool would fail to recognise that Rugby League itself is at a crucial crossroads.

For 99 years we have failed to break out of our heartland. For most of the game's existence that didn't matter. Sport was a localised pastime. In fact there were certain advantages in being a Rugby League fan when the farthest journey you ever had to make was to Cumbria or, if you were lucky, to Wembley. It would have been inconvenient and expensive if we had had to travel to places like Bristol, Birmingham and Southampton. It's much easier to travel to Castleford, Featherstone and Batley. But these days professional sport is played on a national and international scale. Whereas at one time there were few sports that were worthy of widespread media coverage. Nowadays the sporting world is a very competitive market. Our young people can choose to play and watch many games other than rugby, soccer and cricket.

Rugby League, unfortunately, fails to register much of a presence in the national media. There are many reasons for the game's limited impact, but one of the most important must be the fact that League is still limited to the North, apart from the London outpost in Barnet. If the game is really to develop an elite competition that the media will take an interest in, and that sponsors will support, we ultimately must have clubs in that League from all over the country.

In that case, it's easy to imagine that there may be no more than four or five teams from West Yorkshire. Leeds will be there as will Bradford. Huddersfield, playing in the new Alfred McAlpine Stadium would be another logical choice. You might also include Halifax, although they would need a better ground. If they couldn't get one they would probably merge with Huddersfield. Then there would be one club in the Wakefield district. Would that club be Trinity?

It would certainly carry the Wakefield name, but it may not play at Belle Vue. It may be a new club resulting from a merger of the three existing professional clubs in the district. If so it might play in a new stadium equidistant between the three clubs.

Is this the sort of future we want for Rugby League? A relatively small number of big clubs, with the smaller clubs competing in a separate competition below the elite level.

Or do we want to try to stay roughly as we are?

It's worth asking the question, because the creation of a Premier League has its own inevitable logic.

And it's a logic that many League fans won't feel comfortable with.

Trinity Travel

Next week Trinity don't travel at all. We have the pleasure of having two back to back home games with Oldham today and Hull as our visitors next week. Hull put up a gutsy display against Bradford last weekend and were only beaten by six points in the dying moments of the game. They have now been joined by their overseas signings and are certainly playing the best rugby they have played all season. Unlucky to only draw against Warrington, they have then lost to Salford, Castleford, Halifax, Workington, Oldham and then Bradford although some of their games have been very close run things and their position at the bottom of the League table on one point does not do them justice. The following weekend there are no League games because of the first cap between Great Britain and Australia at Wembley. There are still places available on the Rail Express trip we are running, tickets for return rail travel to Wembley are £25.00 which includes reserved seats, for further details contact the club shop. The week following we travel to Headingley for our first meeting of the season with Leeds which always provides a tight game of rugby.

WAKEFIELD 15 FEATHERSTONE 0

Trinity's run of four successive losses in a row ended on Sunday 25th September with a magnificent win over Featherstone Rovers. Not only did Trinity win but Featherstone were nilled, in an encounter which saw Aaron Whittaker, celebrating his New Zealand call up, scoring 10 of Trinity's 15 points. Wakefield began the game as underdogs according to BBC Radio Leeds, and Steve Martin, the Featherstone coach said he was 'confident of taking the two points'. However, Trinity had other ideas and went all out to spoil Rovers party with style.

Featherstone began brightly enough and almost took the lead on the fifth minute after a well timed chip by Roebuck was collected by Butt just yards from the line but David Nelson was on hand with a try saving tackle during which Butt spoiled the ball. In the eleventh minute Whittaker opened the scoring after Gunn was penalised for punching in the tackle. Soon after Whittaker was on hand again to take Trinity further into the lead. The ball was handed to Whittaker on the last tackle and he made as if to kick down field, but a 'nifty' side step saw him round the charging Gary H Price and dash fifty yards to the try line for the first touchdown of the game. The angle of the conversion was too great but Wakefield had a 6-0 lead. Rovers had a chance to equalise in the 26th minute when Aston and Divet combined offloading the ball to Butt giving him another chance to go over in the corner. 'Big Bob' Piva had other ideas and launched a bone crunching tackle on Butt which almost put him in the stand! Either side could have scored on the run up to half time but Trinity's defence stood firm under pressure and they maintained their six nil lead. The Featherstone following were expecting better things in the second half and Wakefield were waiting for Rovers to go on the rampage after the team's roasting in the dressing room by Martin. Only Ropati and Divet showed signs of improvement in the second half whilst Trinity looked confident both in defence and attack and tackled Rovers out of the game. Featherstone made repeated handling errors throughout the second half, mainly forced through the ferocity of the Trinity tackling, which gave Wakefield most of the second half possession. Lee Hanlan continued making darting runs from dummy half and was a thorn in Featherstones' side for most of the afternoon, throughout the final forty minutes Wakefield played safe rugby slowly chipping away at the Featherstone game plan and were happy to take a drop goal from Bailey on the 56th minute meaning that Featherstone had to score twice. Minutes later Gary Christie missed the line by inches after a flying tackle by Gibson densed him the try, and if Wakefield had scored here then surely the floodgates would have opened. However, Featherstone stuck to their defensive task and the next score for Wakefield came from a Whittaker penalty on the 72nd minute which sealed the game. Three minutes later Adrian Flynn went over for another try effectively burying Featherstone hopes of a last minute victory. Wakefield gave everything as a team and the effort was superb all round. The crowd were delighted with the two points which shot us up the League table into tenth place and gave us a much needed confidence boost before our trip over the Pennines to Central Park and our first meeting of the season with Wigan.

WIGAN REPORT

Things didn't go exactly as planned at Wigan, in fact things didn't go at all. The poor weather conditions made the going hard for both sides but Trinity seemed to suffer more, giving up too much possession at crucial times throughout the game. Wigan went ahead two minutes into the game with a Botica penalty and desperate tackling from Trinity prevented Martin Hall and Henry Paul from scoring although they were only inches away. Wakefield came back with a spell of possession, with Lee Hanlan being brought down inches from the line. From this position 'Twiggy' the centre broke the Trinity defence and passed to Craig Murdock on his debut for Wigan who raced over for the first of Wigan's eight tries. Murdock was playing for the injured Edwards who had pulled a muscle during training, but he is like a clone of the Wigan skipper, he passes the ball the same, runs the same, supports the same, looks very similar and he even plays off side the same! Wigan's first try was on the 23rd minute and until this point Wakefield had in fact held them quite well, however, another Trinity handling error gave Wigan a scrum from which all the Wigan backs combined to run the ball out wide and score in the corner. Two minutes from half time the defence was stretched again and Offiah went over for his first try of the afternoon. The half time score stood at 18-0 and Trinity looked a little hard done by due to the good defence they had put up but at 18-0 the task ahead made a win look out of reach. During the second half Wigan ran in another five tries, Henry Paul scored twice, Offiah claimed his second and Connolly notched up a further two to give him his hat-trick. Wigan didn't look to be firing on all cylinders, but there again they didn't need to. Trinity didn't get out of 'neutral' all afternoon and although no team in the League would expect to travel to Central Park and win, it would have been nice to score at least one try. Being nilled is not an experience I wish to repeat and I now know how Featherstone felt two weeks ago but at least we have the 'excuse' of being nilled by the champions. The League Express said the game breaker was 'Botica's second minute penalty which put the result beyond doubt.' This is not the case but I did have a little titter at it as did most folk. Basically it was a game to forget and least we can say we've been to Wigan and don't have to go again for another year - unless we are lucky enough to draw them in the cup again!

Alliance Review

Wakefield T 'A' 18

Keighley 'A' 19

A last minute try, converted from the touchline sent Trinity out of the Yorkshire Senior Competition Cup.

Wakefield took an early lead thanks to John Jepson's try which he goaled from wide out but Keighley fought back to edge the first half 9-6.

match in succession, there was disappointment in losing a game they looked to have sewn up.

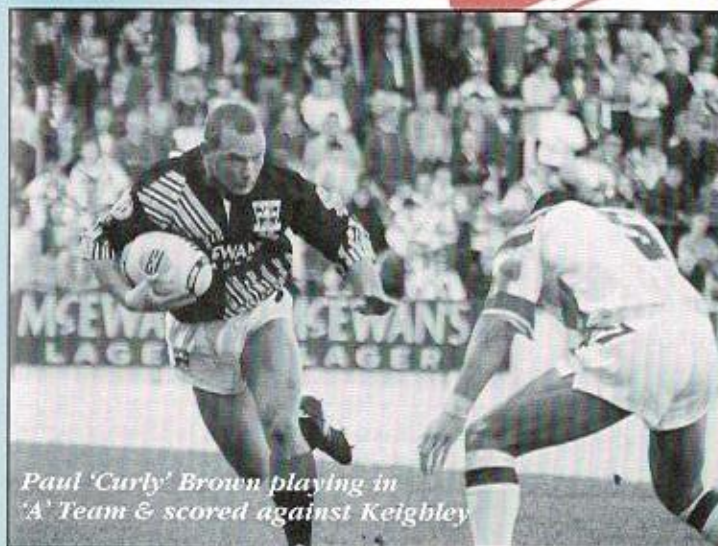

Wigan 'A' 44-12 Trinity 'A'

Trinity's hopes of returning to winning ways in the Alliance League were dashed in the first twenty minutes at Central Park. In that time, Wigan raced into a 22 point lead to set them on the before half time.

However, they continued the improvement after the break and were rewarded with two spectacular long distance tries both scored by full back Lee Child. On each occasion, he outpaced the speedy Wigan three-quarters to touch down, both tries being converted by scrum half Pete Seabourne. But a late scoring burst from the home side put the game well out of Trinity's reach.

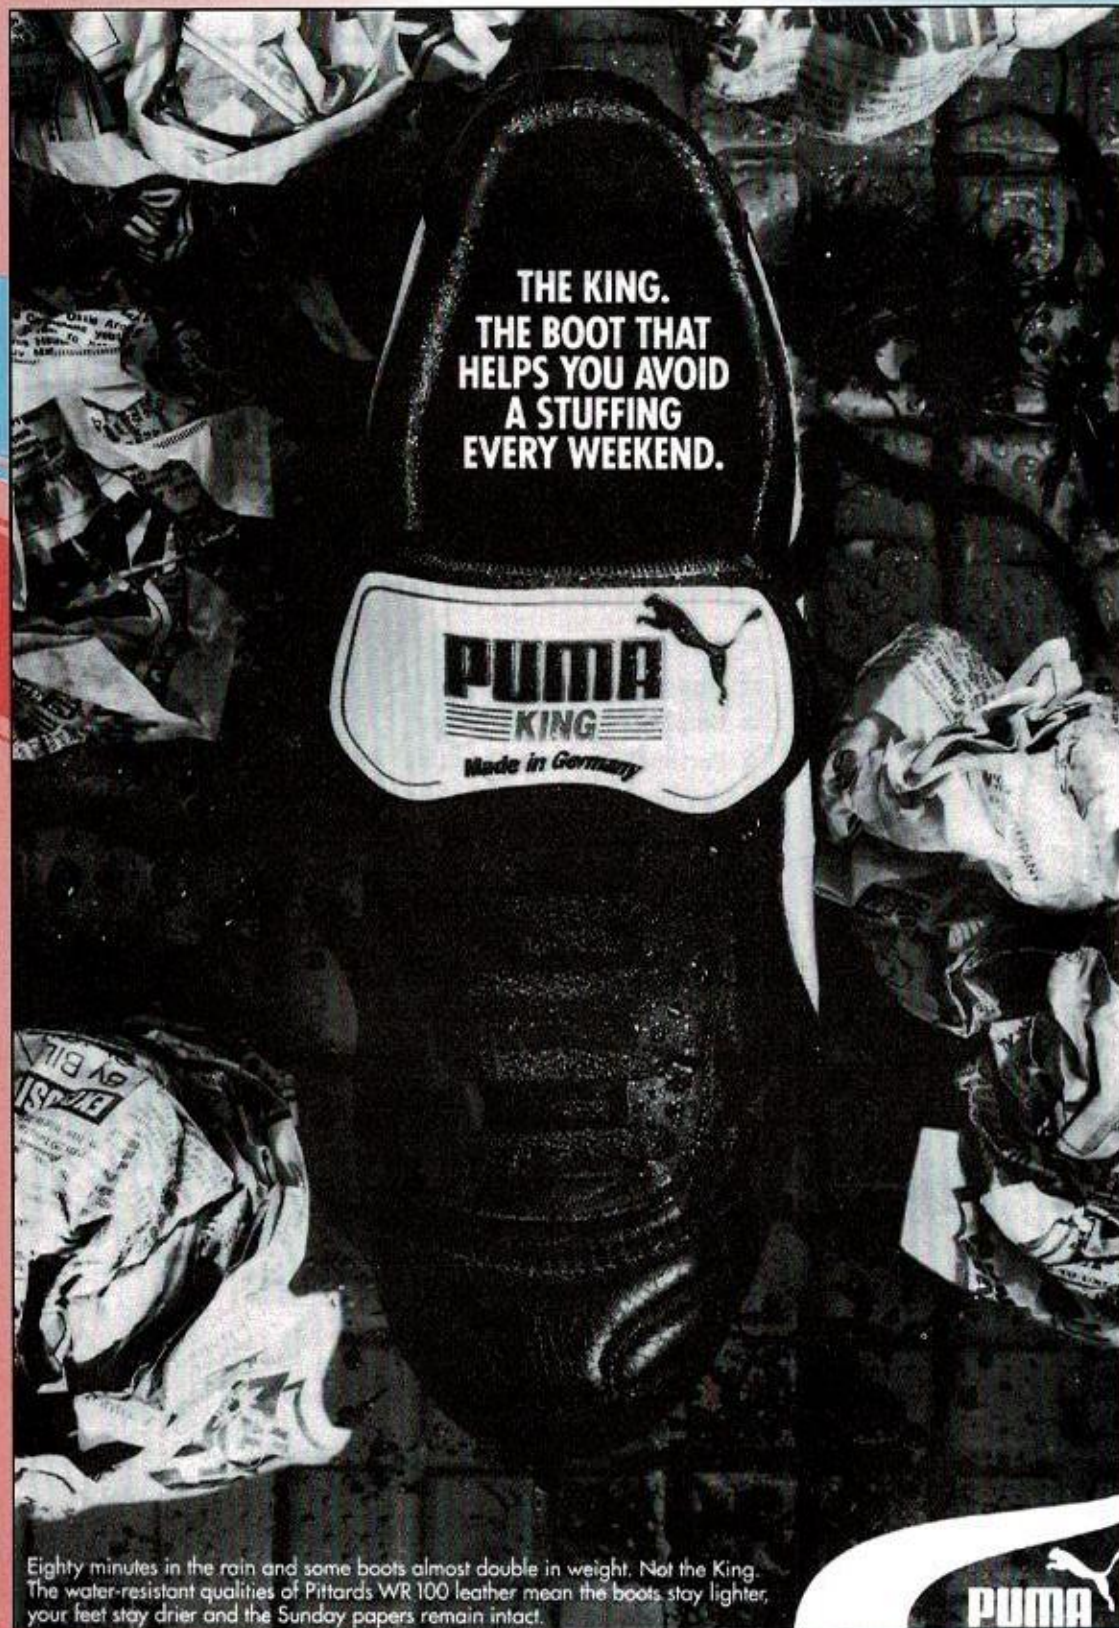

John Hirst was Wakefield's best player working hard in both attack and defence.

Trinity looked to have booked their place in the next round of the cup thanks to tries from John Hirst, Paul Brown and James Mosley but, trailing 18-9 the visitors hit back to snatch the game in the dying seconds. Paul Hicks, Wakefield's young hooker had an excellent game in Trinity's pack topping the tackle count and making several good breaks but for the second road to a comfortable success. To Wakefield's credit, they began to create some chances, which with better finishing would have put them on the scoreboard

SCHOOL VISIT

At the last home game against Featherstone Rovers the Pope Pauls X School from Wath-on-Deane visited the ground. The pupils were taken on a tour of the dressing rooms and were able to see how the dressing rooms were laid out for a game and some of the preparations. The board room and pitch were also toured and details given of Trinity's and Belle Vue's past. After the tour the party had a game of Super Bowl and a meal before enjoying the hard fought victory over Featherstone. If your school would be interested in coming to a match then teachers should contact Russell Gaunt on Wakefield 290243 for further details.

Ian Gildart

Ian Gildart joined Wakefield Trinity from Wigan at the start of the season in a move which saw him join his old Wigan team mate Mike Forshaw. Ian started his rugby career at school, he attended Golborne County Junior School and whilst there he applied to attend trials for Wigan boys football and rugby teams. He was advised to take up rugby instead of football by one of his teachers and hasn't looked back since. Throughout his school years Ian played Monday - Friday for his school team, joining McGovern Comprehensive after leaving Golborne County, on a Saturday he played rugby for the Wigan schoolboys team and on a Sunday he played for Leigh Rangers once he reached 11 years of age. He was chosen to represent Lancashire Schools at County level for the U13 and U16 age groups and picked for the England Schoolboys U16 team against France who won all their games. He played for this age group twice at fifteen and once at sixteen. Turning professional on his seventeenth birthday, Ian was signed on by Wigan R.L.F.C. and he had his debut with the Wigan first team whilst he was still only seventeen years old. Throughout his younger years from 17-19 Ian played with the Colts team at Wigan and was also asked to represent his country again in the Great Britain Colts U19 against France when Great Britain won.

During this tour he was playing alongside Mike Forshaw, Denis Betts, Gary H. Price and Paul Newlove. In the Great Britain U21 age group Ian represented his country no less than six times, each time against France and each time coming away victorious.

His experience in the Colts side both for Wigan and Great Britain earned Ian a full time place in the Wigan first team and during his spell there he won numerous medals, including a Challenge Cup winners medal when Wigan beat Warrington at Wembley in 1990. He also has Regal Trophy medals, Premiership medals and numerous Charity Shield medals. He was also part of the Wigan party to Australia last summer who beat the Brisbane Broncos in the World Club Challenge. Ian had an operation on his achilles tendon only a week before this game and unfortunately was unable to play, but the choice had been have the operation and miss the Bronco's game or play the game and miss the start of the season. With a move in mind, Ian opted to have the operation early knowing the first few weeks at a new club are very important in the "settling in period".

At the end of last season Ian finished a four year contract during which time he had enjoyed success with the best club in the world. At twenty four years of age the options were open to Ian to stay at Wigan or move on and to Wakefield's advantage he opted to move in our direction. Ian has been a life long friend of Mike Forshaw and a training partner and with Mike's involvement with the club he learnt of the new set up and coaching staff and recognised that Trinity were building a team for the future which he wanted to be part of. Not everyone can understand a player moving from a club like Wigan to a lower placed club like Wakefield. The advantages of playing for Wigan are immense as long as you are playing, but it is no good having the credentials of Ian and sitting on the side-line. Nigel Wright was Trinity's star player but a move to Wigan has seen him play only a handful of first team games and the rest in the 'A' team, and although the Wigan 'A' team is outstanding not surprisingly, it still hasn't got the bite of first team rugby which every player needs. This being the case Ian decided to join Wakefield on a one year contract and is confident about the future. The start may look a little bit rocky with two wins from six but teams like Bradford, Wigan and Halifax were never going to be easy and the only big disappointment this season is the loss against Doncaster. The team has strength in depth and Ian is confident that things will start to improve shortly.

Commercially Speaking

by Russell Gaunt Commercial Manager

Good afternoon and welcome to Belle Vue for this afternoons Stones Championship game against Oldham. Oldham come into today's game on the back of the very close game against St. Helens, whilst ourselves after a hard fought win in our last home fixture against Featherstone, we came second best last week against the might of Wigan. Today's game I'm sure will prove another close fought affair, as only one point separates the two sides before today's game. Today's match is kindly sponsored by Woodhead Taylor James of Outwood, Wakefield. Woodhead Taylor James have been great supporters of Trinity over the years, and I hope all their guests enjoy the Trinity hospitality and long may their support continue. Today's Man of the Match is sponsored by Vayro and Emmerson Joiners. Dave Vayro and his wife are ardent Trinity fans and I would like to thank them for their support and hope that they have an enjoyable afternoon. Our Matchball is sponsored by two loyal Trinity supporters, Idris Jones and Stewart Bruce. Last but by no means least I would like to welcome an old friend of mine Richard Cavadino who is today's executive sponsor. I would like to thank all our sponsors and hope that they and all their guests have an enjoyable afternoon here at Belle Vue. Here's to two points!

TRINITY KIWI SIGN IN

Trinity's three new Kiwi signings recently attended W. T. Smiths in the Ridings Centre signing copies of the Rugby League Weekends Kiwi Invasion. The signing session proved a big success with Aaron Whittaker, David Bailey and Robert Piva signing copies for the kids of all ages. The first 50 juniors under 16 who received copies also got free tickets for the recent game against Featherstone.
