TRINITY v. OLDHAM

OUR VISITORS

It is always a great pleasure to have visitors from across the Pennines, and especially when they are such an attractive side as Oldham. We welcome them to Belle Vue this afternoon, and also extend that greeting to the Oldham Schoolboys who make the journey for their annual fixture with the Wakefield City Schoolboys (this afternoon's "curtain-raiser"). We look forward to an afternoon of entertaining football—as is usual whenever these two sides visit us. We are only sorry that Test Match duties deprive us of seeing three Oldham "regulars"—forwards Little and Turner, and centre Davies—who will be in Great Britain's ranks at Swinton.

Oldham are a side rated in many quarters as this season's outstanding team and one likely to add one or two (or even three!) more trophies to the Lancashire Challenge Cup they already hold, before this season comes to a close. Their record so far does much to substantiate that claim. To inflict knock-out Cup blows to Wigan (away) and St. Helens (in the final), defeat St. Helens (away) and then run up 45 points at home against Barrow—these are a few examples of Oldham's power, consistently shown in both Cup and League games so far this season.

Past Meetings

Meetings between Trinity and Oldham have, in recent years, taken place every alternate season—1950-1, 52-3, and 54-5. Of those past meetings, we can point to two home victories from the three clashes, but at Watersheddings we have been defeated had not put their name to any trophy since 1933, their full list of the game's honours is an impressive one. They have been Rugby League Champions three times, and runners-up on five occasions. From their seven R.L. Challenge Cup finals, they have taken the trophy to Watersheddings on three occasions. This season's Lancashire Cup win was their seventh from twelve final appearances. Oldham were the first club to be Lancashire League champions—in 1907-8 season—and have held the honour twice since then and have been runners-up five times.

The score stood at 19-2 in Oldham's favour before a great assault by our side which almost gave us victory. Our team on that occasion contained no recognised hooker, and was as follows: F. Mortimer; Froggett, A. Mortimer, Bell, Cooper; Holliday, Rollin; Harrison, Jaques, Haigh, Kelly, Armstead, Chamberlain. Froggett, Cooper and Albert Mortimer each scored a try, and Frank Mortimer kicked three goals.

That is Oldham's record of honours and one to which, their supporters hope, further additions will be made before the curtain falls on this season. Confidence and enthusiasm are high at Watersheddings these days, and their side's play to date can fully justify both. Their ability to play entertaining, open football and, most important, stay on a winning path has brought added crowds both to Oldham and to the grounds on which they have appeared this season. Overshadowed in recent years by the might of Warrington, Wigan, St. Helens and other "more fashionable" clubs, Oldham have now risen to be a side capable of defeating any team and of playing the type of football comparable with the best any of the above-mentioned sides has produced. Last season they finished in ninth position in the final League table, winning 20 of their 34 games. A further improvement looks certain this season and they will no doubt be keen to better their 1954-55 attempt on the League Championship

TRINITY SPOTLIGHT

PETER ARMSTEAD the only "ever-present" member of the Trinity side this season. So far he has played in seventeen league games plus the five Yorkshire Cup matches. In addition, Peter also took his place in Trinity's pack versus Castleford (Charity Cup game) and, last Monday, against the Australians.

KEN HIRST 16½-years-old Ken made his first-team debut on Monday when he took the right wing position against the Australians. He made a fine solo run during the opening minutes to crack the Aussie defence and collect a well-earned try. His debut will long be remembered by all who were there—and Ken himself will not easily forget his debut, his first opponents—and his first try for the senior side. Monday afternoon was surely a memorable one for this youngster.

PROGRESS We regret that progress notes have not been receiving space in this programme. To some extent we are able to remedy the omission. Don Froggett is making steady progress, but is not yet ready for serious testing of his injured knee.

ERIC COOPER His injury re-asserted itself during a training test and he has been obliged to take a longer rest.

COLIN BELL is not yet able to report fit.

DOWN AND UP

Depression, after defeat at Fartown last Saturday, found some relief in our victory over the Australians at Belle Vue on Monday. Huddersfield's possession superiority, very marked in the second half, proved too much for us. With their backs in continuous hold of the ball over long periods they were able to keep Trinity pinned down, their defences were pierced, and there was no recovery. Here was a game which pin-pointed, if that were needed, a problem which has to be solved. Monday provided a refreshing

LIONS

The Australians were entertained at the Town Hall after the match, being welcomed there by the Mayor of Wakefield, Cr Webster, who had also attended the match. We were pleased to have with us there also three former Trinity players who had made visits on R.L. Tours to Australia. They were G. H. ("Mick") Exley (1936); Jonathan Parkin (1920, 1924, 1928); and Tommy Newbould (1910). Several other former Trinity players were also present at the match.

Following previous references to the value of our reserves, it is worthy of note that among our backs for this game were Wilkins, Hirst, Fox and Bullock.

LOOKING BACK

There are some still coming regularly to Belle Vue who remember the Trinity of Rugby Union days previous to the event which is now remembered as the "Great Split." Some of them have been kind enough to tell us that they appreciate the brief items we are sometimes able to include in this programme with regard to Trinity in those more distant days. We are encouraged to persevere from time to time, believing that, whilst such notes may satisfy the nostalgic yearnings of the old supporters, they may be found interesting to younger generations who want to know as much as possible about our club.

Trinity, as is well known, played in its earliest years as a Rugby Union Club. The "Great Split" from the Rugby Union followed a decision that no payment was to be made for the breaking of time from work in order to fulfil engagements. We will quote, and leave it at that, though there may be many who could amplify on these brief particulars.

"Trinity were one of the founder-clubs of the Northern Union (now Rugby League) and were represented at the meeting held at the Mitre Hotel, Huddersfield, on August 29th, 1895, when 22 clubs decided to send in their resignations to the Rugby Union, and to form the 'Northern Union.'

The meeting was a direct result of the famous 'broken time' resolution having been rejected by 282 votes to 136 at a meeting of the Rugby Union held at the Westminster Palace Hotel, London, on September 20th, 1893.

The suspension of the Salford Club for professionalism, and the notorious case of the players Boak and Forsyth, of Huddersfield, were determining factors.

The clubs who resigned en bloc from the Rugby Union were:—

Halifax	Broughton Rangers	Wigan
Hull	Leigh	Runcorn

MORE RECENT HISTORY

We have referred to the gathering at the Town Hall last Monday, after the Trinity v. Australia match, and to the presence of some old Trinity "Lions." We wonder if the game recalled to their memories previous similar contests at Belle Vue.

For "Mick" Exley there could have been two such recollections.

ask boys and young men to consider this. If they lean to outdoor sports, as we hope they may, Rugby League football is a very fine exercise and entertainment either to play or to watch. And there will come a time when activities will give way to the more passive forms of participation.

Once in the game, youths are presented with chances greater perhaps than at any time in the Rugby League's existence. Some who read these lines will be schoolboys. If they will enter fully into it they will not only find great enjoyment in their play, but they will have before them the prospect of giving similar enjoyment to others who can do no more on the field but must remain beyond the touch-lines. And if they will give the game that extra study and practice which makes a lad of natural aptitude into a star their pleasure in the game will be greater still.

So far as league and club committees are concerned, as much consideration and encouragement as can be given to the junior game should be offered without stint. We are still confined to the three counties, but within our own borders the game can be made so attractive and so strongly based that "outsiders" may become the wooers rather than the wooed. And to those who say that the game is being commercialised let us show, whether or not we agree with that argument, that whatever, if any, changes are coming over the game, our standards are not lower.
